

There Are a Thousand Songs of Love But None About the Bowel

Music, lyrics: Henrik Widegren

There are a thousand songs of love
Love that's pure and strong
But none about the bowel
So I have to sing this song
Life without love
Is sad and filled with grief
But life without rectum
Is brief

There are a thousand songs of love
Of love's eternal magic
But none about the kidney
I think that is tragic
Life without kisses
Would really suck
But life without a spine
Good luck!

Your heart is your best friend
Trustworthy and dear
It beats every day and night
Year after year
And the loove of the liver
Is honest, sincere
It never comments when you eat fat
Or drink a beer

There are a thousand songs of love
That's a well-known thing
But none about the spleen
That is why I sing
A life without a smile
Is a little sad
But a life without bile
Is bad
